

Preparing for hospital

LEARNING OUTCOMES

- To read and understand the purpose of different pre-admission hospital documents
- To read and complete pre-admission forms appropriately
- To know how and when to confirm or turn down an appointment

RESOURCES

- Copies of Resources 1–3
- Further examples of hospital pre-admission documents (you may want to ask learners to bring these in)

RELATED THEMES

- Getting to the hospital (pages 60–72)
- Attending an outpatient clinic (pages 263–271)

HEALTH SKILLS

Going to hospital for an outpatients appointment or for tests or treatment can be a stressful experience. This theme will help learners to:

- understand the different types of information they will receive from the hospital
- understand the importance of keeping appointments (or cancelling them if necessary).

Related health information

Local hospital websites are likely to have a great deal of useful information for patients.

SKILLS FOR LIFE

In order to provide all relevant information before hospital admission, learners need to be able to:

- read and understand different pre-admission documents
- understand instructions and vocabulary on forms
- enter personal information on different types of form.

Core curriculum

Activities in this theme will contribute to learning in the following curriculum areas:

- recognise the different purposes of text (E Rt/E3.2a)
- recognise and understand the features and language of instructional texts (E Rt/E3.3a)
- complete forms with some complex features (E Wt/E3.5a).

- If possible, before this session, invite learners to bring in any forms they have relating to hospital admission.
- Discuss learners' experiences of going into hospital for day care or to stay.
- Provide some examples of pre-admission hospital documents (preferably examples brought in by learners).
- Talk about the different kinds of information and requests on the forms and make a list of the categories (e.g. personal details, medication, previous illnesses, etc.).

Have you ever been in hospital in the UK?

What information does the hospital ask for before you go in? What information does it give you?

ACTIVITY 1

Understand the purpose of pre-admission hospital documents

- Ask learners to underline any unfamiliar words on Resource 1 and to check their meanings with others in the group.
- Ask learners to discuss and identify the purpose of each document, picking out the clues from the text such as headings and key words like 'bring ...' or 'date for your admission'.
- Encourage learners to pick out and discuss the effect of different text features such as bullet points, capital letters and bold text.
- Help them to recognise how bullet points are often used for lists and how bold text, capitals and colour draw attention to important points.

Why is it important to tell the hospital if you can't make your appointment?

Support

- Begin by displaying and discussing one or two key words or expressions from each document, such as 'date for your admission' or 'if you cannot keep your appointment'.
- When you are sure they understand their meaning, encourage learners to find and highlight them in the documents on the page before proceeding to the main activity.

ESOL

- ESOL learners may be unfamiliar with the language and layout of forms and letters. Encourage them to compare common features between the documents on Resource 1 and those they have brought in.
- Make sure learners understand conventions of form filling, such as circling or deleting items.

ACTIVITY 2

Read and understand details in pre-admission hospital documents

- Talk about why it is necessary to read the pre-admission documents carefully.
- Discuss the questions on Resource 2 with learners. Check they understand the meaning of words such as 'closest relative', 'surgery' and 'jewellery'.
- Ask learners to complete the activity in pairs or individually.
- Review results. Discuss the reasons for the various requests and instructions, for example details of your religion; instruction not to bring valuables.

Is there any other information you would need before a hospital appointment?

How would you feel about going into hospital?

Support

- Read the questions aloud with learners and ensure understanding of all vocabulary.
- Focus on each question individually, first discussing which document is likely to contain the information requested.

ESOL

Provide practice in recognising commands (e.g. 'confirm', 'call', 'bring').

ACTIVITY 3

Understand and complete hospital forms appropriately

- Divide learners into small groups.
- Ask them to discuss the effects of not turning up for an appointment on a) the hospital, and b) other patients.
- Discuss the possible consequences for the patient: for example, delay in treatment, back to the end of the queue, whole new referral for repeat offenders.
- Talk about why someone might turn down an appointment and discuss what kind of reasons are legitimate and which are not.
- Talk about alternative ways of changing an appointment, such as by telephone, and take suggestions about what to say.
- Ask learners to read Resource 3, then talk about why the hospital wants them to fill in each form.
- Encourage learners to circle key or new words and to discuss their meanings.
- Invite learners to complete the two sample form extracts on Resource 3 with their own personal information, selecting a reason for non-attendance. Provide a suitable hospital number for each learner, either in writing or orally. Make sure they follow the instruction on Form 1 to use block capital letters.

Support

- Direct learners to particular sections one at a time and ask them to pick out the features and / or language of forms (e.g. bold text or the instruction 'Delete').
- Talk about the kinds of information needed in each section.
- Encourage completion of the form in pencil first and checking of spellings.

ESOL

- Check that learners know how to enter their names in the boxes if they do not fit easily into 'name', 'forename', etc.
- Suggest that learners create a list of words for filling in forms:
 - instructions (e.g. 'fill in', 'tick', 'circle'), with visual clues to illustrate the meaning
 - abbreviations (e.g. 'DoB', 'Tel no.')
 - useful words and expressions ('next of kin', 'date of admission', 'confirm', 'turn down an appointment')
 - words with similar meaning (e.g. 'forename' / 'first name', 'surname' / 'family name').

Why might you turn down a hospital appointment? Is that a good reason?

You have to turn down an appointment. What would you do? What would you say?

TIP

Begin by completing the forms in pencil. Check and complete in ink when details are correct.

- Allow time for reflection on the information needed by hospitals. Ask learners to record one thing they remember and to think about how it will help them next time they have to deal with pre-admission documents.
- Provide a range of hospital pre-admission documents for reading and, where appropriate, completion. This is an excellent opportunity for learners to bring in any such forms from their own family or friends for discussion.
- Ask learners to:
 - discuss and identify the purpose of each document
 - make sure they know what to do with key text features and form-filling conventions
 - circle the instruction words
 - discuss the documents
 - practise completing relevant extracts.
- Review results.

Have you received any hospital forms or letters you would like to discuss?
